Context

Poverty:

The 1834 Poor Law Amendment reduced the amount of help available the poor, forcing them to seek help at the workhouse if they couldn't support themselves. Conditions there were incredibly harsh and designed to humiliate people into not wanting to go there.

Ghosts and the supernatural:

Whilst the Victorians made many technological advances thanks to their interest in science and medicine, they were also fascinated in the supernatural and things that couldn't be easily explained by science. Ghost stories became extremely popular, as did trying to contact the dead via séances.

Christmas celebrations:

Christmas was a fairly low key celebration at the start of the 19th century, but Queen Victoria's German husband, Albert helped to introduce some European traditions, like a decorated tree, into the traditional British Christmas celebration during the 1840s. During Victoria's reign, workers started to be given two day's holiday to celebrate Christmas. The invention of the train enabled people to travel home to celebrate with family. The traditional figure of Father Christmas, dressed in green to symbolise the returning spring, was familiar at this time, but not the gift-distributing Santa Claus we know today. Rich people would give each other hand-made gifts and toys, but stockings did not become popular until the 1870s. Turkey was only eaten by rich families as it was expensive, goose was a cheaper option.
